Canadian Mounted Rifles, 8th Canadian Infantry Brigade, 3rd Canadian Division. He was in command of the bombing operation of the brigade and in the terrific fighting at Sarny, Hungary, in June, 1941, he was one of the vital factors in halting and driving back General von Arnim's massive Westwurm offensive.

Returning to his battalion he was given the rank of major and to command a company. He served with distinction at Ypres, the Somme, Vimy Ridge, Hill 70 and other points.

It was at Passchendaele on Oct. 30, 1917, that he won the Victoria Cross. With his company he was on the Canadian left in the great attack on the crest of the Passchendaele Ridge. He was severely wounded before the attack commenced, but would not leave his men.

CAPTURE OBJECTIVES

In the attack he pressed forward, capturing all objectives. The British troops on the left were held up. He was being encircled and his casualties were heavy. So he attacked the objectives on his left and captured them, including pillboxes and machine-gun nests. By the end of the day he had 26 men left. But so deadly and accurate were his snipers and machine-guns that he held his own in the positions.

He was ordered to launch a counter-attack and despite his wounds remained on duty until his company was relieved.

He was promoted lieutenant colonel and commanded the 1st Battalion of the 8th Brigade, 2nd Division.

GREATEST BATTLE

In 1918 he was severely wounded again and for weeks it was thought he could not recover. The whole Canadian Corps was depressed when word came that the greatest "Fighting Generals" lay at death's door. But the troops felt that he would win out. And he did.

He remained with the army after the war, winning three decorations. When the present war broke out he was district officer in the 1st Canadian Military District No. 10 with the rank of brigadier. He went overseas in command of the 1st Division and Brigadier of the 1st Division and succeeded Lt. Gen. J. H. McNaughton as general-officer-in-command of the 1st Division.

He was brought home a year and appointed general-officer-in-command-in-chief, the Pacific Command in charge of all Canadian troops' western approaches and coast.

Seamen Describe Fierce Sub Attack

LONDON, March 23.—(CP)—Survivors of British ships sunk in the Atlantic earlier this week told a story of a fierce U-boat attack on the ship which the Nazi propaganda machine claimed was Germany's largest U-boat victory.

"It was a grueling experience, but I was not hurt," said one sailor, who was on the ship, said Harry Brock, 21, a ship's freeman.

"The attack lasted two days and there must have been many U-boats in the battle. The ship was hit and destroyed, went into action and at night the ship was hit with gun and torpedo attacks.

"When our ship was hit we got into a lifeboat and stayed there for two days by a destroyer within two hours."

Clipper Crosses Atlantic Twice In Single Day

MIAMI, Fla., March 23.—(AP)—Capt. Joseph H. Hart of Pan American Airways today crossed the Atlantic twice in one day.

When he flew his clipper plane from Miami to New York, he crossed the Atlantic twice in 24 hours.

Pan American officials said yesterday it was the first time a commercial plane had made the round trip in a single day.

Hart and his crew flew the Boeing flying boat from Miami, Brazil, to a West African port, then to Natal in 24 hours and 40 minutes.

The mark was made possible by the ground crew at the African port, which was packed in 30 minutes.

Says Policies Sound

Ilsley Appeals for Support Of Anti-Inflation Controls, Government's Fiscal Program

By C. R. BLACKBURN

OTTAWA, March 22.—(CPI)—Finance Minister Ilsley yesterday appealed to members of the House of Commons to co-operate with the government in its fiscal program, particularly its anti-inflationary controls.

He also urged members to refrain from making public statements which might prejudice the fourth Victory Loan campaign to be launched April 26.

Mr. Ilsley in a brief budget note address said he had been "convinced" over some of the speeches made in the House "as to the effect they may possibly have in the House and in the country on our measures of price control and generally on our fight against inflation."

SAYS POLICIES SOUND

The minister said the government's financial policies were sound. They were the same as those in Britain, the United States and the British Commonwealth countries. These policies involved heavy taxation, encouragement of saving and borrowing to the limit of what the country could be induced to save from their incomes.

"If we are right we certainly should be supported," he said.

Back From Africa

Mr. Gordon himself the minister said he would think of some of the attacks, that Mr. Gordon was "punching around the prime minister and small retailers just because he is a big banker."

Price control had kept the cost of living within bounds. The latest index, Feb. 1, 1943, was 118.8, an increase of 16 per cent over the pre-war figure but one point below July of last year.

The Prices and Consumer Goods Board had made many adjustments but there were abundant reasons. They had sought to keep consumers with schedules and slight adjustments, after the most careful consideration.

Mr. Marshall said in his address that every time he heard a budget speech his blood pressure went up about 20 points. He commented on the budget's slogan "work and save" and said it seemed as if "people haven't suffered enough under this while unrelenting deflationary system and it is to their God-given right to suffer some evil."

Mr. Marshall said the government now proposed to forgive 50 per cent of the 1942 income tax, and at a time when it was asking for a great deal more money than ever before.

Crops were low in western Canada through lack of harvest, said Mr. Marshall. He told of the movement of Quebec university students to the prairies last fall to help with the harvest.

They had come back from the farms with hands cut and blistered, tired for a few days, then returned to try to do again, forcing to be called quitters.

Mr. Marshall said the government had been offering incentives to the British government to visit the United Kingdom but the statement said "No definite plan has been made on account of her state of health."

C.C.F. Disputes Tax Liability Of Wheat Pools

OTTAWA, March 22.—(CPI)—Rev. T. C. Douglas (C.C.F., Westburn), said in the House of Commons yesterday that his party would seek a vote at the present session on a ruling that western wheat pools be liable to income tax.

He said this ruling, if made retroactive, would cost western farmers $300,000,000, and it was contended would put the farmers in the cost of fighting the case in court.

"A government reply tabled in the House yesterday informed Mr. Douglas that the wheat pools had been held liable for taxation by a Justice Department ruling, which said they could not enjoy immunity under legislation concerning co-operatives."

Mr. Douglas said that two years ago a campaign had been started by a number of eastern newspapers, including the Financial Post and Canadian Business, asking why the wheat pools were not paying income tax.

The government had yielded to the Douglas. The pools were to be taxed under excess profits and income tax legislation.

"If the government is as sympathetic to the welfare of co-operatives as the member of the House of Commons who said 'the wheat pools are not paying income tax' would be, it would have to ask the Income Tax Act to be amended to cover the wheat pools."

Dear

We are getting ready for spring now as the mercury started its belated climb to warmer levels on Friday. The thaw has set in and working parties are busy along the main thoroughfares clearing the slush from the streets. It won't be long now until city gofers are dusting the sidewalks off their wheels and irons in preparation for another season. Just how successful it will be this year is doubtful, as the new gasoline ration in effect April 1 is likely to not many enthusiasts greatly.

The above picture was taken Saturday evening at the corner of Jasper avenue and 101 street and is typical of the cross-section of the ever-growing population that throngs downtown Edmonton every evening of the week. Canadian soldiers, sailors, airmen and members of the U.S. armed forces rub shoulders with Canadian and American civilians as they go about their business or seek relaxation after strenuous activities of the day.

NEW YORK, March 23.—Coach Burt Friddle of the Toledo U. basketball team hopes that his all-freshman "Rockettes" provide such a significant flare on the athletic horizon that the freshman rule will be abolished permanently from post-war varsity sports.

Treasury Branch Deposits
Are Secured Against Loss
Low Informs Legislature

Every deposit in the government treasury branches is fully secured, Hon. Solon Low, provincial treasurer, told the legislature in committee of supply Monday afternoon.

"Depositors in the treasury branches need have no fear of any depreciation on value of their deposits," Mr. Low said.

At the sitting, estimated expenditure of $803,110 by the treasury department in the fiscal year 1943-44 for operation of the government treasury branches, engaged the legislature in a three-hour debate. The vote was still unopposed at the 6 o'clock rising of the house.

OPPOSITION SPEAKER

First opposition speaker to join in the debate was F. H. Walker, Independent, Warner, who said that although Alberta has a public debt, it has assets to show for the debt, but in the case of the treasury branches there was nothing to show for the expenditure. By the end of the next fiscal year, Mr. Walker said, the loss on the treasury branches might total $200,000.

"We are not making any money in this discussion," said Premier Abernethy, rising on a point of order. I want to get some sense into this discussion.

The discussion would have been limited to the salary item at this point, the chairman of the committee of supply, James Hartley, Social Credit, Montreal declared.

R. E. Ansley, C.P.A., Leduc, called the attention of the house to the fact that some $175,000 bonus was being paid to treasury branches, returned to the public.

This sum, Mr. Ansley said, would have to be deducted from the appropriation, and also, the revenue of the treasury branches was calculated at probably $150,000 for the fiscal year, would probably be nearer to $200,000, he added.

Replying in opposition criticism of the item of $250,000 for salaries of treasury branches, Mr. Ansley, a member for Leduc pointed out many advantages of the treasury branch system. Had it not been for the treasury branches, the milk condensed plant at Red Deer might not have been built.

INFORMATION LACKING

F. J. Martin, Independent, Peace River, complained about a lack of information on the subject of treasury branch operation. The fact figures given in the budget, he said, were for the fiscal year which ended March 31, 1942, and before the bonus was paid. He said that the 1943-44 figures were a lack of a year's information. Mr. Martin said that he had no view of the fact that some $400,000 was outstanding on provincial savings certificates, although the bulk of those certificates of Alberta who have money on deposit in the treasury branches, he added.

He is referring to about your order, Mr. Chairman, Mr. Abernethy said.

The budget debate was where debate had the opportunity to discuss the principles of expenditure. Hon. N. E. Tanner, minister of finance, said: "Every deposit is fully secured."

"Every deposit in the treasury branches is fully secured," Mr. Low continued, pointing out that accumulated deficit of the branches has been paid off by the government, he said, and should be paid off by the treasury, if it was necessary to do so.

Previous governments, the provincial treasurer said, had the problem of the savings certificates, had neglected to establish a reserve, and when a crisis came, no funds were available for redemption of the certificates.

RESERVE ESTABLISHED

"We have set up a reserve in the treasury branches to prevent this," Mr. Low said. "This is liquid, an exact figure, $300,000 of Dominion of Canada bonds were held in the reserve, he pointed out.

Asked by Mayor A. Dawson, Independent, Calgary, about a $1,000,000 deficit of the treasury at March 31, 1942, Mr. Low said this amount had been paid off out of the appropriation.

Mr. Dawson asked if this amount was reflected in the public accounts showing that $1,000,000 had been paid by the treasury department on behalf of the treasury branches.

"That is so," Mr. Low replied. "I am surprised that the government is not making provision for a day when money will not come in as freely," J. E. Brown, New Social, Calgary, told the house when he rose to speak in the discussion. He said he was satisfied that a number of members on both sides of the house were dissatisfied over the operation of the treasury branches.

Mr. Brown was asked in order by the chair, as he was not referring to a specific item in the estimates.

The people's money was being spent, Mr. Brown said, continuing to the next few years, he pointed out.

Leases Granted

In City Market
Are Protested

Criticism of the city commissioners' action in leasing part of the market building for a purpose other than its original use, erected for was voiced by Alder J. E. Brown, New Social, at a meeting of Monday night's city council. The discussion followed a petition from stallholders, who are dissatisfied with the arrangements, made by the commissioners with the United States Army Engineers, for rental of a portion of the building.

Mr. Brown, a stallholder for more than 20 years, said that the action taken by the commissioners was of primary importance to the nation's war effort, and expressed the opinion that tenants in the building had been dealt with in a very arbitrary manner.

ORDERED TO VACATE

He said that stallholders, without any consultation, were notified Sunday, March 22, to vacate their stalls, and to move into the building. He submitted that the action taken by the commissioners was not sufficient to provide accommodation when summer marketing becomes effective.

PERCY T. COLE

MONTREAL, March 23.—Percy T. Cole is appointed executive assistant of Canadian Pacific Air Lines, successor to the position made by C. H. Dickens, vice-president and general manager.

Mr. Cole has had considerable experience in aviation, having joined in 1922, and was appointed aviation director of the Toronto Telegram in 1934, a position which he held until 1941 when he was appointed Assistant Editor of Commercial Aviation and Editor of Money Times in Toronto.

During his aviation writing period, Mr. Cole has covered a number of leading Canadian aviation air developments and has flown through northern Canada, as well as to Bermuda and Mexico. During 1942 he crossed the Atlantic by bomber as a member of the Canadian newspapermen selected to visit Britain as guests of the Canadian Government to obtain first-hand information on army, air force, and war conditions.

out this would run, into millions of dollars.

"Don't see how the government can get into a frame of mind to carry on a losing business," Mr. Brown declared. He asked what the government was getting out of the business, he said, and before the house was adjourned, he said that the 1943-44 figures were a lack of a year's information.

Mr. Brown said that he had no view of the fact that some $400,000 was outstanding on provincial savings certificates, although the bulk of those certificates of Alberta who have money on deposit in the treasury branches, he added.
